All parents are encouraged to attend any function of the Redding Jr. Rodeo Association, but must adhere to the same rules as the Redding Jr. Rodeo Association members.

The senior Advisor(s) and/or the drill master have sole authority to direct and instruct (or to appoint another parent advisor(s) to direct or instruct) junior and peewee members while at any club or affiliated club function.

Any suggestions, comments or complaints should be directed to the senior Advisor(s) or any Redding Rodeo Association board member.

Any damage to or theft of a person's horse or equipment while on the rodeo grounds property is his or her own responsibility.

I/we agree to adhere to all rules and regulations of the Redding Jr. Rodeo Association while at any RJRA or other club affiliated function. I understand that refusal to obey the rules and regulations (by parent, guardian or member) could result in termination of membership.

The undersigned does hereby release the Redding Jr. Rodeo Association and the Redding Rodeo Association or member thereof from any liability due to accident or other mishap while participating in any meeting, drill practice or performance or other activities or while traveling to or from any activity of this organization.

PLEASE NOTE: This is to advise both members and non-members that in the event of an injury which requires medical attention while engaging in public and non-public functions on the rodeo grounds, the Redding Rodeo Association does not provide medical coverage for any related injury. Those who are injured must use their own health insurance coverage.
